Chapter 1

and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there

reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every

margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the

same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there

reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the

Chapter 2

that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every

margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the

same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there

reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every

margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the

same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later

Chapter 3

later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every

margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the

same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there

reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every

Chapter 4

book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there

reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every

margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the

same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there

reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader

Chapter 5

there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every

margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the

same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there

reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every

margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the

same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page

Chapter 6

page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there

reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every

margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the

same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there

reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the thought still waiting there reading is a conversation with the page and every margin note is a reply that the reader leaves behind for a later self who will open the same book and find the